Not illustrated. 1897 Excerpt: .she evidently was not accustomed to such language, and not acquainted with that terrible term. She collapsed, evidently quite at a loss as to what gift on her part Mr. Lowell declined to accept. Sometimes even the most harmless remark about America would call forth very sharp replies from him. Everybody knows that the salaries paid by America to her diplomatic staff are insufficient, and no one knew it better than he himself. But when the remark was made in his presence that the United States treated their diplomatic representatives stingily, he fired up, and discoursed most eloquently on the advantages of high thoughts and humble living. His cleverness and readiness in writing occasional verses have become proverbial, and I am glad to be able to add two more to the manyj eux d esprit of this brilliant and amiable guest: --. Had I all tongues Max Muller knows, I could not with them altogether Tell half the debt a stranger owes Who Oxford sees in pleasant weather. The halls, the gardens, and the quads, There s nought can match them on this planet, Smiled on by all the partial gods Since Alfred (if twas he) began it; But more than all the welcomes warm, Thrown thick as lavish hands could toss em, Why, they d have wooed in winter-storm One s very umbrella-stick to blossom! Bring me a cup of All Souls ale, Better than e er was bought with siller, To drink (O may...
